

Sweet Dreams:
The Life and Times of Patsy Cline

a symposium at the Virginia Historical Society
Friday, April 4, 2008

The Virginia Historical Society (VHS), in partnership with the Community History Project of Shenandoah University, will host a day-long symposium about national recording artist Patsy Cline.

Scholars, authors, and historians will discuss topics including the history of country music, early influences on Cline's career, the social and political atmospheres in Cline's hometown, and Cline's impact on pop and country music today.

To conclude, the VHS will hold a Patsy Cline musical review featuring various acts performing music from Cline's era, her influences, as well as her famous hits.

For more information, visit www.vahistorical.org.

Virginia Historical Society
428 North Boulevard, Richmond, Virginia 23220
(804) 358-4901